

The Horseracing Integrity and Safety Authority

HISA was created by Congress to establish and enforce under the oversight of the Federal Trade Commission, for the first time, a national, uniform set of rules applicable to every thoroughbred racing participant.

The Rules

HISA is empowered by Congress to regulate two key areas:

Under its Anti-Doping and Medication Control authority, HISA has appointed the Center for Drug Free Sport to establish the Horseracing Integrity and Welfare Unit, which will oversee testing, educate stakeholders on the new system, accredit laboratories, investigate potential integrity violations and prosecute rule breaches.

Under its Racetrack Safety authority, HISA has established rules on operational safety and requirements for track accreditation that HISA believes will enhance equine welfare and minimize equine and jockey injury in the short term. In the longer term, by gathering and analyzing relevant data, HISA can improve upon the rules and regulations.

What HISA Means for You

We believe a cleaner and fairer sport is also going to be a more popular sport.

By creating a uniform set of rules, HISA will bring greater consistency, transparency and efficiency to racing. That means everyone participating in our sport will follow one set of safety and integrity rules, regardless of the state where they are training or racing.

What's Next for the Industry

The Racetrack Safety rules will take effect July 1, 2022. Trainers, jockeys, horsemen, owners and others who interact with thoroughbred racehorses and racetracks must register with HISA at www.hisaus.org before July 1.

The ADMC program will take effect January 1, 2023.
