Girls Leadership Forum

The Indiana Commission for Women (ICW) is offering Preparing the Next Generation Girls Leadership Forum, a one-day workshop focusing on personal, social, and community leadership.

When girls begin to perceive themselves as leaders, they begin to live different daily experiences; they have a more positive perception of themselves....

—A National Call to Action: Teaching Young People about Women's Public Leadership and Promoting Public Leadership for Girls, Center for American Women and Politics, Rutgers University

The Girls Leadership Forum targets high-potential high school girls and/or young women entering college for the first time who have demonstrated their desire to become leaders. Held in three locations, each Forum is open to forty (40) girls who want to learn more about leadership and civic engagement.

The three regional workshops in Evansville, Indianapolis, and Fort Wayne lead up to a statewide Girls Leadership Forum in Indianapolis in 2017.
