

February 24th, 2011

Vincennes University Aviation Technology Center in Indianapolis is proud to present our 2th Annual

FEARLESS FEMALES
in Engineering & Technology

Professional Women in Engineering and Technology Careers
&
High School Women Interested in These Fields

There is an ever-growing need for engineers and technicians in the fields of manufacturing, architecture, biomedical science, process control, computer technology and many others. Often, young women are not encouraged to pursue jobs in Engineering and Technology. We invite you to take part in an event that will help to change that!

The Fearless Females program is meant to inspire these students not only to pursue engineering and technology degrees, but also inspire them to assume leadership roles in their chosen field.

A free luncheon for all ages of females interested in Engineering and Technology will be held on Thursday, April 21st, 2011. The event will begin at 10:00 a.m. (Eastern Time) at the Aviation Technology Center located just north of the Indianapolis International Airport.

Students and guests will have the opportunity to tour the Aviation Technology Center VU's campus and the high-tech laboratories. At lunch their table will interact with women in Engineering or Technology careers followed by hearing an inspiring keynote speaker. We hope providing a unique window for them to view the "female perspective" of primarily male oriented careers will heighten their interests!

Please contact Joseph Lee at 317-381-6040 or email at jlee123@myvu.viu.edu. Upon receiving your RSVP we will send out further information with instructions for the event.

Seating is limited to the first 100 guests; please respond by Friday, April 1st, 2011. We are excited to extend the opportunity for students to see themselves in the future and hope to see you April 21st!

Sincerely,

Joseph M. Lee
Interim Marketing Director
Aviation Technology Center
Indianapolis, Indiana