To Whom it may concern:

M Y Motorsports of Indiana, LLC (MYM) strives to provide the best training at the best price possible. Pricing was forecasted with the following:

Assumptions:

1. Gas prices will remain somewhat stable with a base line of $3.30 a gallon and no more than a 15% deflection.
2. MSF Insurance is the preferred coverage and prices remain stable at the current rates.
3. The State of Indiana will continue to provide training motorcycles without charge to the vendors.
4. The State provides adequate training to maintain and increase the base of RiderCoach availability. Training will be provided in multiple locations across the state so that candidates can participate without high costs due to travel and lodging.

Constraints:

1. If the State does not provide adequate training to maintain Coaches and allow for new coaches, the amount of classes made available to customers will be severely hampered.
2. If the State does not provide continued advertising and/or targets only certain areas of the state, a reduction in the number of students will result.

It is expected, however, that prices will continue to increase as the inflation rate continues to rise. With this expectation, we have forecasted the potential need to raise prices in the 2027 training year and beyond.

If there are further questions or any further requirements, please contact the undersigned at the email or phone listed above.
