General Comments

- This is a request to establish a Contractual Agreement for Statistical Analysis of Surveys Services. Contract commencing 09/01/2025 or from date of last State signature, whichever is later and ending 02/28/2026 or one year after the State's last signature, whichever is later. By mutual consent of both parties, contract may be renewed. The term of the contract, including any renewals, may not exceed four (4) years. Prices may be listed in the unit requested (per Services). Prices listed above and beyond what is requested shall not be considered and shall be reason to reject bid/quote. Prices must be inclusive of all applicable charges.

- R programming language will be developed to organize, clean, and analyze datasets from Indiana's small game and furbearer surveys. Small game is of particular interest to Indiana hunters. Additionally, a lot of money has been invested in restoring and maintaining furbearers. Indiana residents have an expectation the Division of Fish and Wildlife will manage them in a sustainable manner to ensure populations remain healthy. To understand the feeling of both small game hunters and trappers, it is important to analyze the information they provide via the small game and furbearer surveys. The most effective way to do this is to have a contractor supply the DNR with R code that can be used for multiple years. Having this code will ensure that these surveys can be quickly and thoroughly analyzed. This will meet the public's expectations that their feelings and opinions make an impact on management decisions made by the DNR.

This work is necessary to properly analyze the data brought in by both the small game and the furbearer surveys. These surveys are sent out every 3 years and give the DNR an indication of hunter satisfaction, effort, demographics, and harvest success. This service needs to be provided to DNR so we can analyze survey responses submitted by hunters and trappers. The information provided will allow us to make more informed decisions regarding hunting seasons, bag limits, and methods of improving satisfaction. The surveys also give the DNR insight as to the feelings of the hunting public regarding how game is being managed within the State.

Requested contract dates: 9/1/2025 to 2/28/2026

To allow for sufficient processing time in compliance with Indiana State Law, all quoted prices offered to the State under this Solicitation Event must be valid for thirty (30) calendar days after the Response Due Date (aka Finish Time) listed above.
