HOPE Mentoring is looking for qualified IU students who are passionate about making a difference in young peoples' lives, through mentoring juveniles in juvenile correctional facilities throughout Indiana.

Our aim is to lower recidivism rates and empower juveniles by giving them the skills they need to obtain employment and stay out of the correctional system. Mentoring is a proven method to reduce juvenile crime rates and reduce reoffending.

HOPE mentors will be trained to work with their mentee on resume building, interview skills, and professional or educational goals, beginning in the correctional facility and following them out into their communities upon release.
