

LEAD LINE REPLACEMENT INCENTIVE

What is the SRF Lead Line Replacement Incentive?

The State Revolving Fund (SRF) Loan Program offers an incentive for communities to include lead line replacement project components in their SRF projects. Lead line replacement projects include replacing lead and galvanized pipe service lines. Based on the type and cost of these components, a community may be eligible for improved ranking on the SRF Project Priority List as well as an interest rate as low as 0% on its SRF Loan. All Lead Line Replacement projects, components and activities must be eligible for SRF funding.

Who is eligible for the Lead Line Replacement Incentive?

Drinking Water SRF Loan Program participants include cities, towns, counties, regional water districts, conservancy districts, water authorities, private and not-for-profit drinking water facilities.

How does a participant begin the SRF Lead Line Replacement Incentive process?

Contact the SRF Program Administrator to discuss the project; review eligibility and begin the application process.

What are the requirements for the SRF Lead Line Replacement Incentive?

Lead line replacement projects will follow the same process as SRF Loan Program projects and, in addition, are required to:

As part of the preliminary engineering report (PER), provide:

1. Description of the project or components that qualify for possible lead line replacement.
2. Include all proposed lead line replacements in PER graphics.
3. Cost associated with the lead line replacement portion of the project. Include both construction and design costs.

What happens if, after loan closing, the Participant either does not include the Lead Line Replacement components or scales back the project?

If a participant does not implement the complete lead line replacement components of the approved project for which it received an incentive, the interest rate or any additional incentives will be re-adjusted. The implementation of the lead line replacement components will be verified via SRF Loan Program site inspections and review of Substantial Completion Certificate.
