Anthony Quinn elected Chairman of Board of Directors

(INDIANAPOLIS – Sept. 22, 2020) – Anthony Quinn, the current Dubois County Prosecutor, was recently elected as Chairman of the Board of Directors for the Indiana Prosecuting Attorneys Council. Quinn, along with a new slate of officers and board members, was approved as Chair during a recent membership meeting.

Quinn, who has served as the Dubois County Prosecutor since 2015, has been presiding over IPAC Board meetings as Vice-Chair since Lisa Swaim stepped down in January after being appointed judge in Cass County. Quinn will serve as Chair until June of 2021.

Quinn is joined by fellow officers James “Brad” Landwerlen, the Shelby County Prosecutor, who will serve as Vice-Chair and Scott County Prosecutor Chris Owens who was elected as Secretary.

“I am excited about this opportunity to serve all of Indiana’s prosecutors at the state level,” Quinn said. “This year has presented some incredible challenges in nearly every facet of life for our prosecutors around Indiana and I’m proud of the way IPAC and the Board of Directors has been there to guide everyone through this process. I look forward to continuing this work in the coming months.”
