[Staff #2] asked [client A] to go outside and I followed to assist [staff #2]. I was standing in the corner near (sic) grill and picnic table. [Client A] went toward the grill, so I blocked the grill. [Client A] has gotten hurt before on the grill. [Client A] tried to hit me, so I initiated one-man YSIS grabbing his wrist. [Client A] lost his balance, so I held on to his wrist to keep him from falling. At the same time, I guided [client A] to the picnic table to sit down. [Client A] sat down at the picnic table with his legs on the outside of the bench. He then twisted his body around and leaned on the table part. [Client A] was trying to bite, scratch, and hit me the whole time. The whole incident outside lasted about 2 minutes. [Client A] told me after the YSIS that something popped. I didn't think there was any way his shoulder could have gotten hurt. We use the same YSIS hold every time we initiate YSIS with [client A]. "On 4/2/20 at 12:42 PM, client A's record was reviewed.
