Overview

Pursuant to Ind. Code ch. 8-1-32.5, a communications service provider (“CSP”) that seeks to offer communications service to Indiana customers after June 30, 2009, must apply to the Indiana Utility Regulatory Commission (“Commission”) for a certificate of territorial authority (“CTA”).

A CSP that has an existing CTA or a certificate of public convenience and necessity issued before July 1, 2009, and in effect on July 1, 2009, is not required to submit an application under this chapter (“Application”) as long as the certificate remains in effect. However, if the CSP provides or plans to provide communications services other than those in its existing CTA, it shall update the CTA by filing with the Commission a notice of change under Ind. Code § 8-1-32.5-12 (“Notice of Change”).

Definitions and applicable statutes and rules are included at the end of these instructions. In particular, note that engaging in activities described in Ind. Code ch. 8-1-32.3, permits for wireless service providers, is not necessarily the equivalent of offering “communications services.” See Definitions and Applicable Statutes and Rules for more information.

confidential records that are not disclosable, including, but not limited to, records declared confidential by state statute or federal law and records containing trade secrets. Ind. Code § 5-14-3-4(a).

Once an Application is received, it will be assigned to a Communications Analyst with the Commission's Communications Division for a more detailed review to ensure completeness, accuracy and the adequacy of the information filed. If the Application is not complete, Commission staff shall return the application and documents to the provider with a brief statement of any additional information required, as required by Ind. Code § 8-1-32.5-8. Within thirty days, the applicant may amend the application or withdraw it and re-file. If the applicant re-files an updated application, it will be considered a new application. This statement is specifically applicable to interconnected VoIP service and may also be applicable to some other types of IP enabled services.

Interexchange Service: A retail long distance voice telephone service provided by an interexchange carrier. Interexchange service is considered a telecommunications service, for purposes of this CTA

Local Exchange Service: The provision of telephone exchange service (as defined in 47 U.S.C. § 153) or exchange access (as defined in 47 U.S.C. § 153). Ind. Code § 8-1-32.4-8

Typically, the CSP will also have a billing relationship with the end user customer. For purposes of this definition, the reseller's purchase of the underlying communications service(s) from another carrier or provider explicitly includes, but is not necessarily limited to, a purchase by a telecommunications carrier of telecommunications services made pursuant to 47 U.S.C. §§251(b)(1) or 251(c)(4).

Wholesale: Providing communications service(s) to other carriers or providers on a carrier-to-carrier, or provider-to-provider, basis. For purposes of this CTA application, or Verified Notice of Change, a CSP reselling someone else's communications service(s) to serve the CSP's end user customers or subscribers is providing a retail service, not wholesale service.
