(B) Emergency Provisional Hearings. If a provisional hearing is set and the other party moves for a change of venue from the judge, the Court will consider that the matter is an emergency and the hearing will remain on the docket. The hearing will then be held in a bifurcated fashion and the party seeking the provisional order must show that an emergency exists. If there is no showing that an emergency exists, then the second part of the hearing will not take place. The Court will generally consider the need for support or maintenance as an emergency.

(C) Court Costs. If court costs are initially waived, they will be addressed at the Provisional Hearing and/or the Final Hearing.

(D) Required Language in Every Decree.

1. Tax Exemptions --- If a non-custodial parent is granted a child as a dependent for their income taxes, the Decree shall state: "Y (custodial parent) shall release the tax exemption for the minor child to X (non-custodial parent) for state and federal income tax purposes so long as X has paid at least ninety-five percent (95%) of his/her child support obligations by the January 31 of the following year. . "Child support obligations" include any payments ordered for regular child support plus any payments ordered for an arrearage. Y shall execute and deliver to X the necessary tax documents, including but not limited to IRS form 8332, on or before January 31st after the close of said taxable calendar year."

And the Court orders that Income Payor, until further order of this Court, is to withhold the following amount of x Dollars ($x.00) from Support Obligor’s weekly check and forward same to the Indiana State Central Collection Unit, P.O. Box 6219, Indianapolis, IN, 46206-6219 with Obligor’s Social Security # ___ - __ -2282 (place only the last four numbers of Obligor’s Social Security number here) and ISETS # _____ posted on his check, each week. Said Income Payor may also collect from Support Obligor, for the Income Payor’s benefit and upon the decision of said Income Payor, the sum of Two Dollars ($2.00) each time the Income Payor forwards money to the Bartholomew County Clerk.

The Court further orders that this wage withholding order is binding upon the Income Payor until further notice of the Court; that the Support Obligor may recover One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) from the Income Payor in a civil action if the Income Payor discharges, refuses employment, or disciplines the Support Obligor because of this Order; that the Income Payor is liable for any amount that the Income Payor fails to forward to the Clerk of the Bartholomew County Courts; that this order has priority over any claim on the Support Obligor’s income except claims for federal, state and local taxes; that said Income Payor may combine payments hereunder with other payments for all Support Obligor’s in one payment, provided, however, each portion of said payment is identified for each said Support Obligor; that said Income Payor shall comply on a “first come, first serve” basis for any competing withholding orders.

The Court further orders that said Income Payor shall implement the withholding hereunder no later than the first pay period that accrues after fourteen (14) days hereof; and that said Income Payor shall notify the Court if said Support Obligor terminates his employment within ten (10) days thereof, and shall provide the last known address of Support Obligor and name and address of said Support Obligor’s new employer, if known.”

(E) Separation Agreement Signature. Separation Agreements should not have a line for the Judge to sign. The proposed Decree of Dissolution should contain language, which incorporates the Separation Agreement into the Decree.

(F) Higher Education - College Expenses. The Court will generally look at the Child's aptitude, the parents and child's ability to pay. Generally, the Court will not delineate higher educational contributions years in advance of attendance. Generally, Court will order contribution based upon in-state school expenses, regardless of which institution of higher education child is attending. Examples of exceptions to limiting contribution to instate costs are 1) where parents both attended a private or out-of-state school, 2) where siblings attended private or out-of-state school, 3) child has an extremely high aptitude, 4) where child has been promised private school or out-of-state school for years, and 5) where private school or out-of-state school offers classes not offered by in-state school and child intends to major in that area of concentration. Generally, the Court will order contribution for a maximum of four years if four years would normally be required for the degree. Generally, Court will order contribution based upon the net costs after subtracting out grants and scholarships that do not have to be paid back. The Court will generally start with a presumption that the child should pay circa twenty (20%) percent of the net costs and that the parents should contribute pursuant to their percentage of earnings for the other eighty (80%) percent.

This presumption is general and can be influenced by availability of monies child has from other sources (grandparents' trust fund), parent not working because of subsequent marriage, the child's inability to work because of extracurricular activities, parents' overall level of income, precedent of the way parents' paid for older siblings higher education, etc.

(G) In Camera Interviews. If the Court has an in camera interview with a child, the parties and attorneys are prohibited from discussing that interview with the child afterward.

Separate files with separate case numbers must be opened for each prospective ward.

LR03-TR00-FL-7: Overpayment of Child Support

When a child support obligor pays a greater amount of support than what is due, it is the responsibility of the obligor to notify the court having jurisdiction over the child support order, to request a repayment from the county clerk or the child support obligee. When child support is overpaid by reason of a tax refund intercept, account seizure, or other statutory or administrative capture, there is a rebuttable presumption that the overpayment was inadvertent and that the support obligor is entitled to the repayment of the overpaid amount.
