

Biography for Peggy Welch

Peggy Welch serves Indiana Lieutenant Governor Sue Ellspermann as her Director of Intergovernmental Affairs. Peggy acts as the Lieutenant Governor's point of connection with local, state, and federal government officials.

Peggy returned to public service in July 2014 after serving in the Indiana General Assembly as a State Representative from 1998 to 2012. As a legislator, Peggy primarily served on the Ways and Means Committee, Health Committee, and State Budget Committee. She worked as the Executive Director of the Indiana Medical Device Manufacturing Council for 18 months after leaving the Legislature.

Peggy also has work experience as a teacher, probation officer, and oncology nurse. She and her husband live in Bloomington, as do their married son and three grandchildren. For additional information go to: peggywelch.com.