

This Week in Indiana History

January 15th, 1844

Notre Dame's charter is granted

The University of Notre Dame was granted its official charter by the Indiana General Assembly on January 15th, 1844. For over a century and a half, the Catholic research university in South Bend has been at the forefront of scholarship and student accomplishments.

Cover page of the 1909 Notre Dame university yearbook, including a portrait of the campus president and signature of the original owner.

