Re: Formal Complaint 12-FC-277; Alleged Violation of the Access to Public Records Act by the Greencastle Community School Corporation

Dear Ms. Hanson:

This advisory opinion is in response to your formal complaint alleging the Greencastle Community School Corporation ("School") violated the Access to Public Records Act ("APRA"), Ind. Code § 5-14-3-1 et seq. Dr. Lori Richmond, Superintendent, responded in writing on behalf of the School. Her response is enclosed for your reference.

BACKGROUND

In your formal complaint, you provide that on August 3, 2012 you requested a copy of the personnel report that would be on the agenda for the August 8, 2012 School Board meeting. You were given access to the first part of the personnel report, which detailed resignations and retirements, but was denied access to the second part of the list regarding employment recommendations made by the School Superintendent. In a previous formal complaint, the School stated that you were denied access to the second part of the personnel report pursuant to I.C. § 5-14-3-4(b)(12). You maintain that the list of employment recommendations also includes names of those who volunteer for the School. You believe that the volunteer positions and recommended names should be disclosed since they are not prospective employees of the School and therefore not exempt from mandatory disclosure. You also advise that as the volunteers are not prospective employees, they should not be included in a report that is prepared for discussion or developed during an executive session.

In response to your formal complaint, Dr. Richmond advised that on August 7, 2012, the personnel report was made available to all persons. Part 1 of the report contained ten (10) resignations accepted by the Superintendent pursuant to Board Policy 3140. Part 1 was prepared as information for the school board members for the August 8, 2012 meeting. It did not contain any terminations as is stated in your August 16, 2012 formal complaint.

As to Part 2 of the personnel report, the report was prepared specifically for the Board's August 8, 2012 executive session and constituted the Superintendent's employee and volunteer selection and assignment recommendations to the School Board. The list included all paid and unpaid recommendations for any employee or volunteer who will be on any school grounds, near students, or working in any fashion, directly or indirectly, with students. Volunteers, like employees, are subject to the direction and control of the Administration and Board, and have the same function as an employee, without pay. Part 2 of the personnel report was denied pursuant to I.C. § 5-14-3-4(b)(6) and I.C. 5-14-3-4(b)(12).

ANALYSIS

The public policy of the APRA states that "(p)roviding persons with information is an essential function of a representative government and an integral part of the routine duties of public officials and employees, whose duty it is to provide the information." See I.C. § 5-14-3-1. The School is a public agency for the purposes of the APRA. See I.C. § 5-14-3-2. Accordingly, any person has the right to inspect and copy the School's public records during regular business hours unless the records are excepted from disclosure as confidential or otherwise nondisclosable under the APRA. See I.C. § 5-14-3-3(a).

A request for records may be oral or written. See I.C. § 5-14-3-3(a); § 5-14-3-9(c). If the request is delivered in person and the agency does not respond within twenty-four hours, the request is deemed denied. See I.C. § 5-14-3-9(a). If the request is delivered by mail or facsimile and the agency does not respond to the request within seven days of receipt, the request is deemed denied. See I.C. § 5-14-3-9(b). Under the APRA a public agency denying access in response to a written public records request must put the denial in writing and include the following information: (a) a statement of the specific exemption or exemptions authorizing the withholding of all or part of the public record; and (b) the name and title or position of the person responsible for the denial. See I.C. § 5-14-3-9(c). Counselor O'Connor provided the following analysis regarding section 9:

Under the APRA, the burden of proof beyond the written response anticipated under Indiana Code section 5-14-3-9(c) is outlined for any court action taken against the public agency for denial under Indiana Code sections 5-14-3-9(e) or (f). If the public agency claimed one of the exemptions from disclosure outlined at Indiana Code section 5-14-3-4(a), then the agency would then have to either "establish the content of the record with adequate specificity and not by relying on a conclusory statement or affidavit" to the court. Similarly, if the public agency claims an exemption under Indiana Code section 5-14-3-4(b), then the agency must prove to the court that the record falls within any one of the exemptions listed in that provision and establish the content of the record with adequate specificity. There is no authority under the APRA that required the IDEM to provide you with a more detailed explanation of the denials other than a statement of the exemption authorizing nondisclosure, but such an explanation would be required if this matter was ever reviewed by a trial court. Opinion of the Public Access Counselor 01-FC-47.

Here, you allege that the School improperly cited to I.C. § 5-14-3-4(b)(12) in denying your request for Part 2 of the personnel report as it applied to volunteers. While I would agree with you that the School would have been in violation of the APRA by denying you solely on this basis, I would note that the School also cited I.C. § 5-14-3-4(b)(6) in its denial. As such, both exemptions to disclosure must be analyzed in order to address whether the School was in compliance with the APRA in denying your request.

Pursuant to I.C. § 5-14-3-4(b)(12), the School would retain discretion to disclose records specifically prepared for discussion or developed during discussion in an executive session under I.C. § 5-14-1.5-6.1. As noted by Counselor Davis:

However, it is not sufficient that the record must merely relate to an executive session. It must also have been specifically prepared for discussion in an executive session. Hence, if the material excepted from disclosure by the CAB sets out specific agenda items to be discussed in an upcoming executive session, the excepted material would meet the exception. As with the exception for deliberative materials, to the extent that material redacted under this exemption is not exempt or “inextricably linked” to exempt material, it should be disclosed. See Opinion of the Public Access Counselor 05-FC-256.

Dr. Richmond provided that Part 2 of the personnel report was prepared for discussion in a properly held executive session pursuant to I.C. § 5-14-1.5-6.1(b)(5), (6)(B), and (9). However, each of these provisions refers to either an “employee” or “prospective employee”. By definition, an employee or prospective employee is distinct from a volunteer. Prior counselors have advised since 2001 that neither the APRA nor the Open Door Law defines “employee”. See Opinions of the Public Access Counselor 01-FC-51; 07-FC-305; 09-INF-40; & 10-INF-04. “When interpreting a statute the words and phrases in a statute are to be given their plain, ordinary, and usual meaning unless a contrary purpose is clearly shown by the statute itself.” Journal Gazette v. Board of Trustees of Purdue University, 698 N.E.2d 826, 828 (Ind. App. 1998). As such, counselors have referenced Webster’s Dictionary to define the term “employee” See Opinions of the Public Access Counselor 01-FC-51; 07-FC-305; 09-INF-40; 10-INF-04. The New International Webster’s Dictionary & Thesaurus defines employee as “One who works for another in return for a salary, wages, or other consideration.” The New International Webster’s Dictionary & Thesaurus (318), 2000. A “volunteer” is defined as “One who enters into any service of his own free will.” The New International Webster’s Dictionary & Thesaurus (1093), 2000. As applicable here to the instances cited by the School under I.C. § 5-14-1.5-6.1(b) that it held its August 8, 2012 executive session, it is my opinion that the School could not rely on I.C. § 5-14-3-4(b)(12) to deny your request for access to Part 2 of the personnel report as it related to volunteers.

However, the School also cited to I.C. § 5-14-3-4(b)(6) in denying your request, which also must be analyzed as it relates to your denial. The APRA excepts from disclosure, among others, the following:

Records that are intra-agency or interagency advisory or deliberative material, including material developed by a private contractor under a contract with a public agency, that are expressions of opinion or are of a speculative nature, and that are communicated for the purpose of decision making. I.C. § 5-14-3-4(b)(6).

Pursuant to I.C. § 5-14-3-4(b)(6), the General Assembly has provided that records that qualify as deliberative materials may be disclosed at the discretion of the public agency. Deliberative materials include information that reflects, for example, one's ideas, consideration and recommendations on a subject or issue for use in a decision making process. See Opinion of the Public Access Counselor 98-FC-1. Many, if not most documents that a public agency creates, maintains or retains may be part of some decision making process. See Opinion of the Public Access Counselor 98-FC-4; 02-FC-13; and 11-INF-64. The purpose of protecting such communications is to "prevent injury to the quality of agency decisions." Newman v. Bernstein, 766 N.E.2d 8, 12 (Ind. Ct. App. 2002). The frank discussion of legal or policy matters in writing might be inhibited if the discussion were made public, and the decisions and policies formulated might be poorer as a result. Newman, 766 N.E.2d at 12. In order to withhold such records from disclosure under Indiana Code 5-14-3-4(b)(6), the documents must also be interagency or interagency records that are advisory or deliberative and that are expressions of opinion or speculative in nature. See Opinions of the Public Access Counselor 98-INF-8 and 03-FC-17.

When a record contains both disclosable and nondisclosable information and an agency receives a request for access, the agency shall "separate the material that may be disclosed and make it available for inspection and copying." See I.C. § 5-14-3-6(a). The burden of proof for nondisclosure is placed on the agency and not the person making the request. See I.C. § 5-14-3-1. The Indiana Court of Appeals provided the following guidance on a similar issue in Unincorporated Operating Div. of Indianapolis Newspapers v. Trustees of Indiana Univ., 787 N.E.2d 893 (Ind. Ct. App. 2005):

However, section 6 of APRA requires a public agency to separate disclosable from non-disclosable information contained in public records. I.C. § 5-14-3-6(a). By stating that agencies are required to separate "information" contained in public records, the legislature has signaled an intention to allow public access to whatever portions of a public record are not protected from disclosure by an applicable exception. To permit an agency to establish that a given document, or even a portion thereof, is non-disclosable simply by proving that some of the documents in a group of similarly requested items are non-discloseable would frustrate this purpose and be contrary to section 6. To the extent that the Journal Gazette case suggests otherwise, we respectfully decline to follow it.

Instead, we agree with the reasoning of the United States Supreme Court in Mink, supra, i.e., that those factual matters which are not inextricably linked with other non-discloseable materials, should not be protected from public disclosure. See 410 U.S. at 92. Consistent with the mandate of APRA section 6, any factual information which can be thus separated from the non-discloseable matters must be made available for public access. Id. at 913-14.

To the extent that Part 2 of the personnel report contains information as it relates to volunteers that that would be considered deliberative material pursuant to I.C. § 5-14-3-4(b)(6), the School would not violate the APRA by exercising its discretion and denying a request under this subsection. As provided supra, the School would be required to cite to I.C. § 5-14-3-4(b)(6) and provide the name and title of the person responsible for the denial should it chose to exercise it discretion and deny access to the record. As the School complied with the requirements of section 9(c) in denying your request, it is my opinion that the School did not violate the APRA.

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, it is my opinion that the School did not violate the APRA.
