Eighties Brought Both Good And Bad

Well, we've finally made it. We're here at last in 1989: the end of the eighties. We've dealt with a great sense of tragedy and loss. We said goodbye to Alfred Hitchcock, John Lennon, Rock Hudson, Len Bias, Cary Grant, Marvin Gaye, Princess Grace, and Indra Gandhi, as well as those who died when Mt. St. Helens erupted, when fighting broke out in the Iran-Iraq war, when Mexico had its 7.8 earthquake, when the nuclear bomb exploded in Russia, when cyanide was found in Tylenol, and when the space shuttle Challenger exploded.

Many people suffered throughout the eighties, from drugs, AIDS and other diseases, poverty, and grief; but losing them, we found a deeper meaning and learned from their deaths. We started testing for asbestos in schools. We've had peace talks with the Soviet Union, found some new treatments for cancer, and even discovered new techniques for heart transplants. We kept building on our future, using our past to guide us.

The Best Of Times, The Worst Of Times

But things also started looking up for Americans. We were no longer moving backward in time, but we kept pushing forward. The U.S. hostages were released from Tehran after 444 days of captivity; we found Saturn's 15th moon from the Voyager; and Sally Ride was the first American woman in space aboard the Spaceship Challenger. We dedicated a memorial to all those who served and died for our country in the Vietnam War. The statue of Liberty celebrated its 100th birthday in 1986, and the Constitution celebrated its 200th birthday in 1987. We held two world fairs, in New Orleans and Knoxville, as well as the Winter and Summer Olympics in Lake Placid and Los Angeles.

Into The Nineties: What's Next?

The eighties also brought the Phillies their first World Series in 98 years, and Coke celebrated its 100th birthday by changing its formual. Divers found the remains of the Titanic 75 years after it sank in the Atlantic. Scholars found Hitler's diary, and photographers found incriminating pictures of our first black Miss America, who was later asked to resign. Prince Charles found a bride, Diana Spencer, and later had two sons with her to carry on the name of the royal family. His brother Andrew soon followed and married Sarah Ferguson but had a daughter. The country pulled together for Live Aid and Hands Across America to help relieve famine in other countries. Ronald Reagan held the title of President for eight years and was succeeded by George Bush, his former Vice President. It is estimated that by the year 2000 Mexico City will be bigger than Tokyo at 27.9 million people, and that the total global population will be 6.2 billion people.

So what lies ahead for the nineties? Who knows? A cure for AIDS, life in space, total nuclear destruction, or peace between nations? Tragedy or triumph? It's up to us; the future is ours.

Seniors Dominate Homecoming Games

To start off the 1988 Homecoming Spirit Week, the cheerleaders thought up different looks for each day, such as Hat and Tie Day, Baby Day, Inside-out Day, and Red and Black Day. On Wednesday of Spirit Week, Student Council and the cheerleaders sponsored a Fun Night on the football field for all students. They engaged in such games as the egg toss, three-legged race, tug-of-war, wheelbarrow, balloon toss, and obstacle course, with the Seniors winning many of the games.

The 1988 Homecoming Football game was held on September 23, against Clinton Central. Before the game the floats were judged by Sandy Thompson, Karon McColley and Kathy Sanders. The game broke for halftime with Central leading 0-8. During halftime the Freshmen rode away with a first place finish in the float contest with "Bury the Bulldogs." Second place went to the Sophomores with "Electrify the Bulldogs", and Seniors came in third with "Gopher the Gold." After the float contest, Kim Short was crowned the 1988 Homecoming Queen; she was escorted by Phil Bragg. Kim's court consisted of Seniors Vanessa McGraw escorted by Kyle Chezern, Carla Robertson with Denny Hurt, Kristin Shelley with Bernie Boldt, and Tracy Miller with David Reagan. Representing the Junior class was Jenni Oswalt escorted by Matt Myers; Sophomore class representative was Lanna Lenehan escorted by Brian Pollard; and Freshmen class representative was Mandy Thompson escorted by Chad Martin. The Gophers went on to be defeated by the Bulldogs 0-15. Student Council sponsored the dance after the game, with entertainment provided by Mr. Weddell and Power Booster.

The 1988 Homecoming Court consisted of: Juniors Matt Myers and Jenni Oswalt; Seniors Kyle Chezern and Vanessa McGraw; David Reagan and Tracy Miller; Denny Hurt and Carla Robertson; Queen Kim Short and Phil Bragg; 1987 Queen Stephanie Myers and escort Jason Stillwell; Seniors Kristin Shelley and Bernie Boldt; Sophomores Lanna Lenehan and Brian Pollard; and Freshmen Mandy Thompson and Chad Martin.

Concentrating on the game, Aaron Martin waits for his chance to play.

CP sets up the offense for the next play.

Full of determination, Alex Dobson gains yards for the Gophers.

CPHS Crowns A German Duke

The Duke of the Court carried on its second annual ceremony during the last volleyball game. The ceremony is sponsored by the Science Club. Each Senior candidate receives a "Knight" t-shirt, and then the winner receives a "Duke" t-shirt and a sceptre. Each class chooses a representative except the Seniors, who choose five candidates.

The Duke of the Court for 1988 was Steffen Nolte, a foreign exchange student from Germany. His escort was Sharon Morgan. His court consisted of Jim Oesterling escorted by Tracy Miller, Kyle Chezem escorted-ed by Vanessa McGraw, Matt Brooke escorted by Alicia Leibenguth, and John Neff escorted by Lori Calloway. The eleventh grade representatives were Alex Dobson and Kerry Rominger. The tenth grade chose Treny Zurfas; he was escorted by Sossity Winger. The ninth grade representative was David Friedrich escorted by Dusty Reece.

After the Duke of the Court and the Parents' night ceremonies were over, the volleyball team went on to easily defeat the Zionsville Eagles in two games.

Freshman Mandy Thompson gets down to save the ball.

1988 Duke of the Court consisted of Seniors John Neff, Lori Calloway, Jim Oesterling, Tracy Miller, Duke of the Court Steffen Nolte, escort Sharon Morgan, Matt Brooke, Alicia Leibenguth, Kyle Chezem, and Vanessa McGraw; Sophomores Treny Zurfas and Sossity Winger; Juniors Alex Dobson and Kerry Rominger; Freshmen David Friedrich and Dusty Reece.

A Barroom At CPHS?

Imagine yourself in a saloon of the old "Wild West," complete with a rotten fiend, an innocent young damsel in distress, a brave hero, and lots of other unusual characters, and you may find yourself at center stage for Clinton Prairie's 1988 fall play: The Face on the Barroom Floor. The play follows the tragic story of Jack "Toulouse" Goodhart's fall from being a semi-successful painter to being a wretch. Jack is in love with a not-so-talented songstress by the name of Sweet Madelaine Mockingbird. But, alas, the young lovers are separated by the treachery of our villain, Roderick Rodent. The audience of the 1988 fall play laughed their way through Jack's story to eventually see Jack and Madelaine reunited.

With several experienced students on the cast and lots of willing "rookies," The Face on the Barroom Floor ran smoothly on the nights of November 3 and 4. Under the direction of Sarah Sabens and with plenty of help from student directors Kristin Shelley and Andy Kinsler, the cast and crew of the fall play had a good time while turning out a finished product to be proud of.

FHA Sponsors Christmas Dance

"Christmas on the Prairie," was held on December 3 from 8-11 P.M. The Future Homemakers of America sponsored the bi-annual dance once again. Many couples danced the night away to the music played by the disc jockeys "Caution." This year the usual tradition of having a queen and princess was not continued. The FHA decorated the multi-purpose room in a country style with small sleds given out as favors.

An enormous Christmas tree was standing in the corner, decorated with popcorn strands and many other ornaments. The walls were decorated in red and green, and a decorative fireplace and fence were placed in front of the stage. There was a large outcome, with nearly seventy couples attending. All the couples enjoyed themselves while either dancing or enjoying snacks from the refreshment table.

Amy Roberts Reigns As Hardwood Queen

The 1989 Hardwood Queen and her court.

The 1989 Hardwood ceremony was performed during the half time of the varsity game. Wendy Elliot, escorted by David Joseph, crowned Amy Roberts 1989 Hardwood Queen. Amy was escorted by Aaron Martin. Her court consisted of Seniors Tracy Miller escorted by Bernie Boldt, Kristen Shelley escorted by Tracey Flack, Carla Robertson escorted by Randy Moore, and Vanessa McGraw escorted by Matt Brooke. Also included were Junior Michelle Perkins escorted by Steve Crace, Sophomore Rachel Hanna escorted by Kelley Isenhower, and Freshmen Gina Lock escorted by David Friedrich.

The Hardwood ceremony saw a few changes in 1989. The Queen and her court no longer walked through the arch, and they received real roses instead of silk ones.

Along with the excitement of the win against Turkey Run, 88-63, Student Council sponsored a dance for grades 9-12. "Beat Frequency" provided the music for the dance.

Pictured is the cast of the 1989 Revue, "Disney Magic."

Thanks to all of the cast members of the 1989 "Disney Magic" Revue. You did a great job, and you all made my job as director a lot easier by cooperating. I learned that directing a show is a lot harder than I ever thought it would be, but I did have fun doing it.

A special thanks goes to everyone who helped with making the show a success, especially my Assistant Student Director Kim Cook, and Director Patti Catt.

The 1989 Prom was held at the Sheraton Inn on May 6 in West Lafayette.

"Hold Onto the Night" was the theme of the Prom. The Sheraton was decorated with purple, black, and silver balloons, streamers, and candles. Shrimp, cheesesticks, chicken nuggets, chips, soda, and punch were available for the couples to snack on during the Prom. The Lennon Brothers provided the music.

During the Prom, the annual garter exchange took place, with the couples gathering in a circle and the girls removing the garters from their legs and placing them on their dates' arms.

Seniors Vanessa McGraw and Matt Brooke were crowned King and Queen during the Prom. Their court consisted of Seniors Kristin Shelley, Tracy Miller, Carla Robertson, Bernie Boldt, Jim Oesterling, and John Neff. Juniors Jenni Oswalt and Mike McGraw were crowned Princess and Prince. Their court consisted of Juniors Kerry Rominger, Colleen Carter, Jenny Myers, Brad Heimbach, Matt Myers, and Mark Lane.

The couples finished their last dance at 11:00 P.M. and left for the Post Prom, which was held at the YMCA in Lafayette until 3:00 A.M. There were many activities available for the students at the Post Prom, such as ping pong, pool, volleyball, basketball, and swimming. Every fifteen minutes there were drawings for door prizes, like gift certificates from various restaurants, shampoo and conditioner, candy from Zachary, and many other items.

Matt Brooke and Vanessa McGraw led the royal dance.

Class Of '89 Closes Out The Eighties At CPHS

The Class of 1989 performs the tassel ceremony.

Commencement 1989 brought a mixture of happiness and sadness for Clinton Prairie's graduating seniors, as well as for their families and friends. Graduation exercises were held on May 21 in the high school gymnasium, with 79 seniors receiving their long-awaited diplomas.

After the Invocation, Student Council President Bernie Boldt introduced the speaker chosen by the Class of 1989, Mr. John Dale. Mr. Dale, who had been employed as a social studies teacher at CPHS the first semester of the school year, spoke to the seniors about how lucky they were to have attended a small school like Clinton Prairie. Citing such examples as knowing their classmates, teachers, and administrators, Mr. Dale reminded the seniors that they will never forget their high school days, no matter where they may travel in the future. Mr. Dale encouraged the graduates to pursue careers in which they could take pride and which they enjoy, and he spoke of the varied talents and skills unique to the Class of 1989.

Following Mr. Dale's speech, 1989 Valedictorian John Eldridge spoke about his experiences at Clinton Prairie High School. Eldridge stated that, while a small school may not offer the wide variety of classes that a larger school has to offer, he felt that the advantages of a small school far outweigh the disadvantages. Eldridge's speech was followed by Salutatorian Jim Oesterling, who compared one's high school experiences to a baseball team. Oesterling encouraged his fellow classmates to always pursue their individual goals, while keeping the important concept of teamwork close at hand at all times.

Clinton Prairie's Concert Choir then performed, and Mr. Fink followed with the presentation of the Class of 1989 to Superintendent Bob Spencer. Mr. Spencer, attending the last commencement as Acting Superintendent, accepted the class. Diplomas were then presented, and Senior Class President Matt Brooke led the class in the customary tassel ceremony. Following the Benediction, the newly graduated Class of 1989 left the gym to be congratulated by friends.

The Graduating Class of '89 walks down the aisle, eager to graduate.

Valedictorian John Eldridge gives his speech to his classmates.

Seniors Pay The Price Of The '80's

During the eighties came a high increase in prices. From the things we eat to the cars we drive to our school prom, everything has gone up. Since the year 1980, a lot of the items students use have doubled in price. Gas has gone up and down and up again, clothing is becoming outrageous, and fast food is beginning to cost a fortune. These increases show us how important it is to either go on and further our education, or find a very good job. The cost of living is only going to increase. Here is a look at a few of the price boosts in the past ten years. The prices came from many businesses in Frankfort and a few in Lafayette.

Camaro	$8,900.00	$15,000.00
Prom Dress	$60.00	$175.00
Tux	$40.00	$70.00
Corsage	$6.00	$12.00
Boutonniere	$1.50	$3.00
Levi Jeans	$12.49	$21.99
Cable TV	$7.00	$10.95
Big Mac	$1.30	$1.55
F. Fries	.35	.65
Cassette	$6.00	$9.00
Hot Lunch	.75	$1.00

Many Seniors Of '89 Combine School Work And Afterschool Jobs

It seems like every year, more and more Seniors start working while they are attending school. For many, working is a must in order for them to attend college. Others work for spending money or just for something to do.

John Neff works from 20 to 30 hours a week and attends school at the same time. "I work from 6 P.M. to around 10 or 11 P.M. or after." He says it does interfere with his school work and his sleep. Rob Moore also works at Clean Sweep, and he agrees with John that the hours interfere with his sleep. "It takes time away from the time I have to spend with my girlfriend." They both say that they work so that they can have spending money, money for cars, or money for Spring Break.

There are even some students who have two jobs. Christine Consilio is one of these students. She works at both Little Caesar's and at Roselyn Bakery. Between the two jobs, she usually works around 20 hours a week. She says working doesn't interfere with her social life or her school work. Christine works to save money and to pay for repairs on her car. Rachel Surface also works two jobs. She works at Sycamore Shop and at Leddo's Frozen Yogurt. She works around 20 hours a week and says that her jobs do interfere with her school work, but not so much with her social life. "I work so I can have spending money for Spring Break and so I can have my own money," states Rachel.

David Reagan is another working Senior. He is on the ICE program at school and works at Thrifty Supply. He works around 28 hours a week. "Working doesn't interfere with my school work, because I don't do it anyway," states David. He works in order to make money for his car and for spending money.

April Alexander works around 35 hours a week at Ryan's Steak House. She works for spending money. April stated that her job doesn't interfere with her school work, but it does interfere with her social life.

These are only a few of the people in our Senior class who work. Over half the class works part-time, and most of these people work for spending money. Most of them agree that there are both advantages and disadvantages of working and going to school.

Many Seniors Have Planned Ahead

What will the Seniors of Clinton Prairie be doing after graduation? We examined a guidance office survey that shows 91% of the 1989 graduating class will go to further their education in some way. Many will go on to four-year colleges, while others will go to two-year junior colleges or trade schools, such as Ivy Tech. Only 3% are planning to end their education after graduation, while 7% of CP's Seniors are still undecided on their future plans. Approximately 93% of the graduating males plan to further their education, while 88% of the females intend to go on with some type of further education.

The breakdowns are as follows:

38% — go onto 4 year colleges.

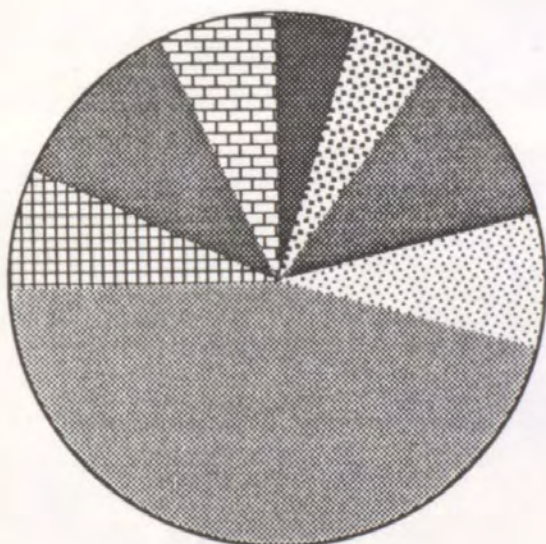

9% — go onto jr. college

26% — go onto business college

17% — go on with schooling, but undecided where.

In the 1988 Duke of the Court ceremony, Alex Dobson was chosen as the Knight to represent the Junior class.

The Student Council members for the Junior class were Colleen Carter, Kenny Garrett, Mark Lane, and Laura Neal.

As the year ended, the Juniors were anxious to have their chance at being Clinton Prairie's first class to graduate in the nineties.

Foreign Exchange Students End The

Diana and her sister, Alma, came to us from Mexico City, Mexico. Diana stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Baker, where her cousin, Edith, stayed last year. She liked attending school here, where her favorite class was Yearbook. She enjoyed going to the basketball games and playing in the snow. Diana was in the 1989 Revue and was on the stage crew for the Fall Play. Upon returning to Mexico in June, Diana planned to go to college and major in computer science. Diana stated, "Hi Mom!"

Alma and Diana are busily working on the senior section of the yearbook.

Alma, who lives with the McGraws, is taking a break from work.

Alma lived with the McGraw family and also liked attending school here. She commented, "The school in Mexico doesn't have a gym, study halls, a cafeteria, or food and home ec. classes. We don't get to choose our classes, and our school is much smaller." Alma enjoyed going to the games and the sporting events offered here. She was also in the 1989 Revue and was on the stage crew for the Fall Play.

Lars, bunny ears and all, relaxes with Diana and Alma.

Eighties With Many American Activities

Steffen became an exchange student from Gutenberg, Bavaria, West Germany, through Youth for Understanding. He lived with the Lane family, participating in basketball, baseball, the Revue, and the Speech Team. He really enjoyed staying here in Indiana and especially out on the "Prairie". Steffen planned to finish school when he returned home sometime in June, and he eventually hopes to go on to study medicine.

Originating from Copenhagen, Denmark, Lars stayed with the Rose family. Lars enjoyed our school activities and the variety of classes offered. He portrayed a miner in the Fall Play and took a foods class to help expand his American recipes. Lars was also a member of the Revue cast as well as a baseball manager. When Lars returned to Denmark, he planned to study to become a chef and maybe someday own his own restaurant. He commented, "I really like America because everyone here is very friendly." Lars left for home in June, ready to see his friends and girlfriend.

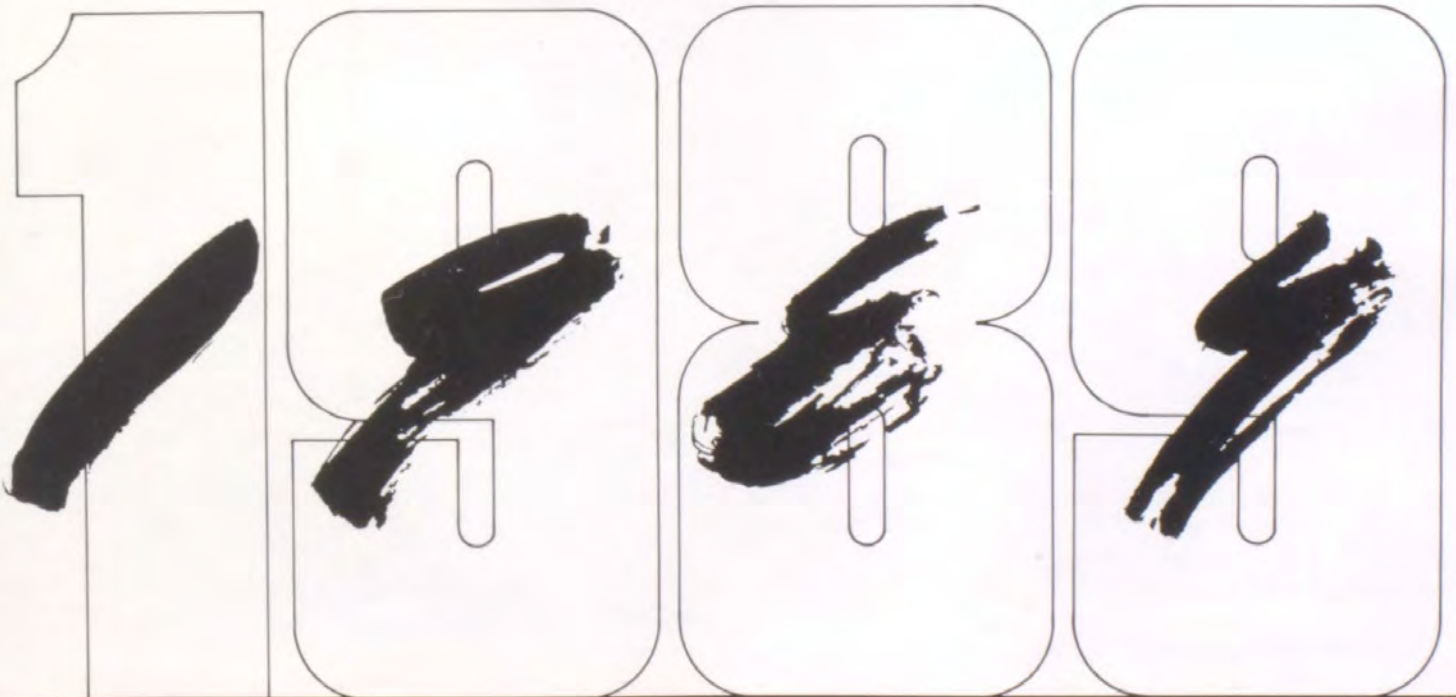

Steffen was a guest of the Lane family.

The Rose family hosted Lars in their home.

and MVP; Matt Brooke, all-conference, and outstanding offensive lineman; Jim Oesterling, outstanding defensive back. Two other outstanding players were Junior Steve Crace, outstanding defensive lineman, and Sophomore Jamey Maish, outstanding offensive back.

While the season turned out to be one of disappointment, Coach Hilgediek stated that he was "thankful for the time and effort each player put in, whether it was his first year or his fourth."

1988 Season Contains Both Ups And

The varsity volleyball team, coached by Ms. Connie Garrett, had another good season with a 26-8 regular season record and a 6-1 conference record. The Gophers did have a few disappointments, though. For the first time since 1975, the team lost the Sectional and the Rangeline Conference, both losses coming from county rival Clinton Central. The All-Conference team members were Kim Short, Rachel Surface, Colleen Carter, and Stacy Joseph. Coach Garrett stated that the 1988 team learned a lot, both about winning and losing. She felt that there was much improvement throughout the season. "There was a lot of success, and the team gave 100 percent. That is what really counts in the end," said Coach Garrett.

The 1988 JV volleyball team also had a successful season. The team ended their season with a 17-4 regular season record and a 7-0 conference record. The team was coached by Mrs. Kathy Sanders, a first year coach. Coach Sanders said the team played very well and, she was pleased. They improved fundamentally, and learned that a team must work together and care about one another. If they keep working hard, they can contribute to the JV and Varsity teams in the next three years."

In addition, Morrison and Swackhamer were named to the All-Conference team and the TIMES All-County team, and Senior Vanessa McGraw was awarded a spot on the Optimist All-Star team for Clinton and Boone Counties.

The Junior Varsity team was coached by Mr. Dan Hilgediek. Although the team didn't end with a record hoped for — 4-12 for the season and 1-6 in conference play — there were bright spots. good shot at winning the sectional."

Fighting many rain delays throughout the spring, the JV baseball team ended the season with a 2-9 mark. Despite problems with the weather and a disappointing record, the team had some very good performances, and Kelley Isenhower was named the Outstanding Contributor to the 1989 squad.

The JV team had many opportunities to gain valuable experience for playing on the varsity level. Coach Brian Catt said that the main goal for the junior varsity players was to prepare themselves for future play.

Head coach Drew Stevenson and assistant coaches Char Rogers and Randy Cooper were pleased with the team's improvement. The captains of the team were Senior April Alexander and Junior Jessica Morrison. The offensive award for 1989 went to Paige Purcell, the mental attitude award to Tracy Miller, and both the MVP and defensive award went to Jessica Morrison.

Coach Stevenson indicated that he expected to see nine of the players returning to the 1990 team, providing a strong base for the future.

Varsity Golf Team Wins Five Meets

Clinton Prairie's varsity golf team finished the 1989 season with an overall record of 5-8. The team, coached by Mr. Kent Doades, ended with a conference record of 3-4. Though the team as a whole had a losing record, the individual team members experienced success. Junior Kent Scott finished in first place in all but three of the team's meets during the season.

At the end of the school year, the members of the team were still waiting to compete in the sectional, which was postponed until mid-June due to a court case pending in one of the rival schools involved in the sectional.

Boy's Track Team Finishes With 6-4 Record

A season record of 6-4 and a conference finish of seventh out of eight teams doesn't mean track coach John Vandewalle was unhappy with the guys. "It was a good season for such a young team. We are going to be better next year and win our new conference."

On this young team, Sophomore Treny Zurfas tied the school record with 2:02.8 in the 800 meter run. Zurfas also led the team in the field events and the sprints, and he was the only runner to go on to regional. Sophomore Gene Johnson and Junior Dean Johnson took over in the distance events. Fred Smith, the Senior Captain, led the younger members along with his experience.

Despite the losing record of 3-8, Kris Jones remarked, "Our record doesn't reflect the quality of athletes that were participating. The team had a pleasant, enjoyable, fun season."

Four people were cited by Coach Jones as outstanding members. Lorra Lenehan set a new school record for the discus with a throw of 106 feet. Lenehan also won the 100 meter dash at the county meet. Gina Lock was chosen as most outstanding distance runner in the 400. Deanna Greer dominated in the distance runs, and Stephanie Gammon took control of the 800 meter run with a first place at county.

Students Gain Experience In Ag Classes

The Agriculture Department provides many different opportunities for students interested in the field of Agriculture. It helps students gain both practical and technical experience, plus helps them develop skills for future employment, leadership, citizenship, and cooperation.

During the 1988-89 year, the many Ag classes were taught by chairperson Mr. Bill Fox and by Mr. Gordon Logan. Also, they were both helped with teaching by Mr. Bruce Sillery, a student teacher from Purdue.

Future Farmers of America (FFA) is one of the major clubs associated with the Ag Department, and many students were active in the FFA program.

Mrs. McColley draws a humorous picture of Mr. Spencer (before his retirement.)

Several different classes were offered through the Clinton Prairie Art Department, which was once again coordinated by Mrs. Karon McColley during the 1988-89 school year. Some of the subjects available for study included ceramics, sculpture, crafts, drawing, and commercial design.

Mrs. McColley was quite satisfied with the work done by her students. She came up with many interesting projects for the students to work on, such as wooden quilts, baskets, weed wreaths, and commercial prints done on T-shirts. In addition, several students were honored in the Psi Iota Xi art contest: Vanessa McGraw took first and second place prizes; Trace Hornback took a first place prize; and both Jennie Dalton and Matt Stewart took third place prizes.

Students Gain Useful Knowledge From Business Department

The Business Department offers a variety of classes for students interested in preparing for a business-related career or just in gaining knowledge or skills in the business-related areas. Mrs. Sandra Thompson taught Word Processing, Production Typing, Keyboarding, and Shorthand during 1988-89. Mrs. Thompson's classes have also, at various times, offered a production service, which many teachers have utilized for the typing of tests, worksheets, or other papers. "You couldn't ask for a better business department," commented one enthusiastic student.

Senior Marty Dick lies down to rest before a game of badminton.

Ms. Connie Garrett, Mr. Bob Smith, and Terry Boes headed the Health and P.E. department for the 1988-89 school year. All students are required to take one semester of P.E. every year through their sophomore year. The junior and seniors classes are offered advanced P.E. I and II. During P.E. students partook in such sports as tennis, softball, volleyball, basketball, badminton, pickle ball, track, and flag football. Students were also tested for physical fitness.

Health is taught during one semester of the sophomore year. Subjects such as drugs, growth, muscles, bones, and sex education were studied by Mr. Boes' classes. In addition, the 1988-89 sophomores each were required to give a speech on a different subject.

Chairman of the 1988-89 Industrial Arts Department Mr. Al Hintzman, who taught Powder Puff 1, Small Engines 2, and Auto Mechanics 3, Metals 1 and 2, Electricity, and Home Repair and Improvement. Mr. Hintzman wanted his students to develop "a positive self concept in relation to their abilities."

Mr. John Vandewalle taught Woods 1 and 2, Industrial Arts 8, and Plastics, and he hoped the students taking his classes would learn to organize themselves and to plan things out.

Mr. Joe Walker taught Drafting 1 and 2, Graphic Arts, Production Printing and Photography. Mr. Walker hoped his students would "gain an understanding of how industry works so they can become functionally literate."

Mr. Walker explains the project while the students eagerly watch.

Mr. Hintzman works intensely on a car in the shop.

Language Arts Focus On Skills

Clinton Prairie's Language Arts Department consists of two branches: The English Department and the Foreign Language Department.

The English Department offered several courses during the 1988-89 school year. Along with the required English courses, classes were also offered in drama, speech, journalism, yearbook and college-bound English. The Department was chaired by Mrs. Linda Marshall, who taught freshman and college-bound senior English. Other faculty members included Mr. James Compton, who taught junior English; Mrs. Carolyn Davis, who taught senior English; Mr. Lee Moyer, who taught sophomore English, drama and speech;

Mr. Moyer helps his students on the computers during English.

Mrs. Davis takes time from her class to smile for the camera.

For The Eighties And Beyond

Mrs. Sabens smiles as she gives an assignment.

Mrs. Marshall carries on a light conversation with her Seniors.

Mrs. Marcia Hudson, who taught eighth grade English and Journalism; and Mrs. Sarah Sabens, who taught seventh grade English, senior English, and Yearbook.

The courses offered by the Foreign Language Department were Latin and Spanish. Chairman James Compton was in charge of the Latin classes, while Mrs. Davis taught the Spanish classes. Both teachers aimed at giving the students skills in speaking, writing, and understanding a foreign language.

Students in both branches of the Language Arts Department engaged in many activities in order to better learn about a language, whether it was English, Latin, or Spanish. There were listening, reading, speaking, and writing activities, and hopefully the students left with a better understanding and with stronger language skills. No matter what a student intends to do after high school he or she can certainly be better equipped with knowledge of languages.

Mr. Compton seems amused by a student's question.

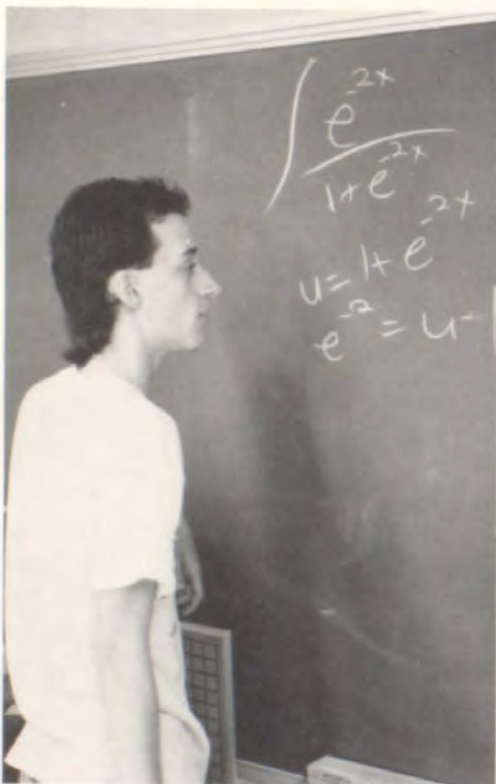

Math Skills Essential

Heading up the CPHS math department for 1988-89 was Chairman John Elliott, along with faculty members Miss Charlotte Bailey, Mr. Bill Taylor, and Mr. Steve Adamson.

Students in Clinton Prairie's math classes engaged in a number of activities to learn math skills. They worked to solve equations, story problems, proofs, and other challenging projects to exercise the mind and to develop logical thinking skills. Many of the math classes worked in the computer lab, and Mr. Adamson used the notion of peer tutoring with his seventh grade math classes. The math skills students learned are basic for survival in today's constantly changing, complicated world.

Matt inquires about a problem in Mr. Elliott's class.

Pat Keller is thinking long and hard about this problem.

Mr. Taylor hands back an assignment to Lee.

In Today's World

Miss Bailey explains an equation in calculus class.

Mr. Adamson listens to a student's question.

Lisa Nicholson learns about Apple Works in her math class.

Brian Israel uses a calculator to figure out an answer.

Miss Bailey grades some of the math papers.

Music Department Stays In Tune With The '80s

The Music Department saw some changes during 1988-89. The High School and Junior High Choirs were directed by a newcomer, Mrs. Patti Catt. The High School and Junior High Band were directed by Ms. Donna Olliver.

The Choirs performed several times during the year. They sang at the winter and spring concerts and performed at Union Station during the Christmas Season. They also performed at the Spring Revue. The Choir went to contests and had to do some sight reading along with singing. Several students who participated in Solo & Ensemble did quite well.

The Band program saw a lot of action, too. The types of bands were the Marching Band, Concert Band, Pep Band and Jazz Band. Marching Band performed during the football season. The Pep Band helped the basketball players and fans get fired up for games and pep sessions. The Concert Band played for the winter and spring concerts and also at Union Station. The Jazz Band spiced up the Revue by playing most of the music for various acts.

All in all, the Clinton Prairie Music Department had quite a busy year.

Mrs. Catt gets caught by the camera while playing her piano.

Jacob Pulley busily takes notes in Music class.

Ms. Olliver is hard at work directing her junior high students.

Science Department Provides a Variety Of Learning Experiences

Mr. Jones demonstrates the principal of balance.

The Science Department for 1988-89 was made up of three teachers: Mr. Jones, who taught seventh grade science and biology. Mr. Stevenson, who taught physical science, chemistry and earth science and seventh grade science; and the head of the science department, Ms. Duzenbery, who taught eighth grade science and physical science.

The teachers in the Science Department are proud of the accomplishment that have been made in the department in the past three years. They are excited about implementing a new junior high curriculum and trying to expand high school offerings.

Ms. Duzenbery is surprised by a student's comment.

Mr. Stevenson explains a chemical formula to his students.

Social Studies Focuses On Skills For The Real World

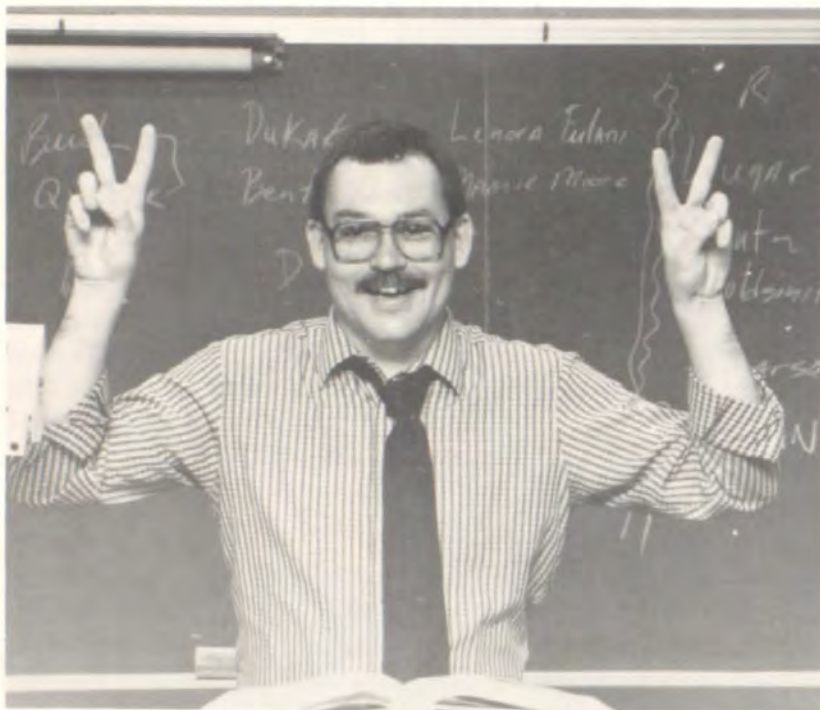

The 1988-89 Social Studies Department consisted of Department Chairman Mr. Dan Hilgediek, Mr. Doug Segraves, and Ms. Jill Long, who replaced Mr. John Dale at semester break.

The main goal of the Social Studies Department was to aid the students in their development as world citizens. Day-to-day activities included lectures, group discussion, board-games, current events, and individual and group projects. Government classes went to the State House in Indianapolis, and the psychology classes went to the State Hospital in Logansport. Mr. Hilgediek stated, "We don't expect the students to understand the immediate importance of all the information presented in class. We just expect the students to put forth their best effort, and hopefully they can gain an appreciation for their culture and lifestyle while respecting those of others."

CPHS Media Center Is A Busy Place

The Media Center is managed by Mrs. Rosalie Carter and Mrs. Carol Travis.

During the 1988-89 year, the Media Center sponsored the Book Fair, worked in conjunction with the English Department in the Electronic Bookshelf Reading Contest, and also were active in the district Media Fair. The Media Center also produced video tapes, displayed outstanding student readers, and assisted students in research.

The main goal of the Media Center is to encourage students to use the facility. Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Travis have spent many hours helping in doing so, and the Clinton Prairie Media Center is certainly a great source of pride to the school.

Many Classes Work In The Computer Lab

Clinton Prairie's computer lab, considered one of the best in the state, is coordinated by Mr. Don Chase. Mr. Chase is assisted by Mrs. Fran Reagan and Mrs. Pat Eaton.

The computer lab staff was very busy during 1988-89, and, among other things they produced their first department newsletter. Mr. Chase, Mrs. Reagan, and Mrs. Eaton also worked with teacher's and classes on a variety of classroom projects, including keyboarding and word processing in the Orientation classes and blueprint projects in some industrial arts classes. The computer lab staff proved very helpful in instructing students on the fine points of using both the Apple and MacIntosh computers.

Resource Room Meets A Variety Of Student Needs

The Chapter 1 program was coordinated by Mrs. Rita Cornell, Mrs. Kathy Harden, and Mrs. Marshall King during the 1988-89 school year. Chapter 1 is for students who have fallen behind in their schoolwork who just need a little extra help and encouragement. A new facet has been added to the program, and it is designed to help students prepare for ISTEP testing. Both the students and the teachers agree that the program was very helpful when it came time to take the tests.

The Learning Disabilities program has been designed for students who have some difficulty in learning in the traditional classroom setting. The 1988-89 school year saw a new teacher in the Learning Disabilities classroom — Miss Kim Leonard. While Miss Leonard was kept busy teaching her students in many different subject areas, she felt that the year had gone along quite well.

The 1988-89 Guidance Department consisted of counselors Mrs. Leslie Robison and Mr. Nick Zafran, and secretary Mrs. Marilyn Moore. The Guidance Office stayed occupied all year long.

Mrs. Robison was busy with the junior high students and with coordinating the testing throughout the year. Mrs. Robison also counseled all female students with any problems, helped with the grade cards, and coordinated the learning disabilities program.

Mr. Zafran stayed busy with the educational and vocational areas. Mr. Zafran counseled all seniors in regard to credit, curriculum, future work, and college applications. He also counseled all male students with any problems.

Mrs. Moore's main jobs included taking care of a large variety of written and typed letters, scheduling appointments, handling the attendance records, and keeping all the filing done.

Front Office Personnel Are Here To Help

Mrs. Stillings and Mrs. Price look through some of the day's mail.

The front office at Clinton Prairie is always a busy place. Principal Charles Fink and Assistant Principal Myron Chezem are in charge of overseeing the general business at Clinton Prairie, and their jobs cover a wide range of tasks from removing locks to speaking personally to students to attending meetings. Mrs. Stillings, the secretary, is always there if you have any questions. Mrs. Price, the school's treasurer, can help with finance questions among other things. The front office is the place to go for answers to questions, whether you're a "regular" at CPHS or a visitor.

Mr. Fink gives a questioning look to a visitor.

Checking his calendar, Mr. Chezem makes weekly plans.

Central Office Is A Busy Place

Heading up Clinton Prairie's Central office staff during the 1988-89 school year was Superintendent Bob Spencer. Mr. Spencer was in charge of many aspects of running our school system, including: hiring and overseeing the faculty and staff; developing the curriculum; maintaining the building and building supplies; directing the student transportation programs; and overseeing the system's finances. Mr. Spencer was superintendent of our system for fourteen years, and the 1988-89 year was his last, as he retired from work. The Clinton Prairie School Corporation grew and became stronger during Mr. Spencer's years of hard work and guidance.

Mr. Spencer was helped along in his job by the other members of the Central office staff. Mrs. Judy Cochran acted as treasurer and bookkeeper; Mrs. Sharon Kelly was Mr. Spencer's secretary; and Mrs. Penny Ramsey worked as a part-time secretary.

Board Takes Care Of School Business

The 1988-89 School Board for the Clinton Prairie district consisted of President David Larsh, Vice-President Patricia Knapp, Secretary Jerry Davis, and Board Members Michael Perry and Barbara Carmichael.

The School Board met every first and third Tuesday of the month. They discussed many issues regarding our corporation, such as the payment of bills, the spending of funds, state and federal programs dealing with education, and general business matters for the Clinton Prairie Schools.

School Nurse Has Many Duties

Mrs. Kathy Sanders came to Clinton Prairie during the 1988-89 school year as the new school nurse. Mrs. Sanders is a registered nurse, and she is responsible for taking care of any health problems experienced at school for students in grades K through 12. As the school nurse, Mrs. Sanders is also in charge of testing students for problems through such things as vision screening, scoliosis testing, and immunization reports. Mrs. Sanders also is available and has been utilized by teachers as a source of information on dental health, AIDS, and health education in general. She is a valuable resource to both the staff and the students.

Cooking: It's All In A Day's Work

The Cooks at Clinton Prairie took on their annual chore of preparing the school meals during the 1988-89 school year. Coming in early in the morning each day, the cooks planned and prepared many meals in hopes of pleasing students in grade K through 12. They were assisted by Junior Bill Mackey and Senior Becky Waddell, and elementary classes occasionally assisted in the planning of the meals.

CPHS Custodians Work Long Hours

Clinton Prairie's custodians once again put in many hours to keep our school clean and in order. The custodians came in during different shifts so that someone would be at the school at all times, and this gave workers an opportunity to take care of jobs that could not be attended to when students were present. Under the supervision of Head Custodian Omiajean Donoho, the custodians did a fine job of keeping Clinton Prairie looking good to students, staff and visitors.

Bus Drivers Take Students Where They Need To Be

As always the school bus drivers here at Clinton Prairie had their hands full during the 1988-89 school year. They, of course, transported the students to and from school, and many drivers also took on the added responsibility of driving groups and teams to various extracurricular activities, such as sporting events, academic competitions, or field trips. The weather of 1989 was mild, however, so that the drivers at least did not have to battle the elements.

Eighth Grade Class

The eighth graders enjoyed having the upper hand of the Junior High during the 1988-89 school year.

The eighth grade did not have any class officers, but they still managed to help put together a Junior High dance.

Many of the eighth graders attended the junior high study tables on Tuesdays and Thursdays for help with homework. Also several of the students competed in the Spelling Bee.

All of the eighth graders were looking forward to moving up to the high school the following year.

Seventh Grade Class

As always the first few weeks were scary, but exciting for the seventh graders. Lockers sticking, forgotten combinations, and wrong classrooms were all part of the typical first week or two for the newest additions to the junior high at Clinton Prairie. As the year went on, they became more excited about having their own lockers, traveling from class to class, and even being able to have a la carte choices for lunch.

The class officers for the 1988-89 school year were: President — Kyle Knapp; Vice-President — Brandon Bolinger; Secretary — Courtney Kinsler; and Treasurer — Julie Reents.

Eighth Grade Boys Have Ups And Downs During 1988-89

The 1988-89 eighth grade football team had a rough season, going winless in six games. The team, which was coached by Mr. Al Hintzman, was small in numbers but high in determination. Though they had an unsuccessful season, Coach Hintzman felt that the boys were able to acquire the experience and skills that will prove valuable to them on the high school team.

Eighth Graders Gain Valuable Experience

The eighth grade boys' basketball team for 1988-89 had such a large turnout that they had to divide the team into A and B squads. They started out with Mr. John Dale as their coach, but when he resigned, Mr. Nick Baker took over the coaching position during the middle of the season. The A team ended their season with a record of 7-10, and the B team ended their season with a record of 2-5. Mr. Baker commented that the team learned a lot that season about winning and losing, and also they learned a lot of the basic skills for high school basketball. The team's leading scorer was Shawn Golden. Leading in rebounds was Kyle Knapp, and Jon Maish chalked up the most assists for the season. Even though they were involved in two sports, Crace and Wells were still the key runners for the team. Rachel Flowers and Connie Loveless were the only girls who ran for the Gophers. Coach Tom Percy said that he had a very young team to work with, but he felt that the seventh graders had acquired some needed experience for the next year's season.

SQUEEZE OUT MORE BUSHELS PER ACRE

Case International 1660
Axial-Flow Combine

When it comes to harvesting crops, this big crop-saver can save more grain than other combines in its size class. It has the muscle to "get in and get out" fast to make the most of each day of good harvesting weather. It consistently turns out cleaner grain so you can get top market price. Put a 1660 to work and take advantage of these field-proven features:

- Axial-Flow Design. Uses a single rotor with fewer moving parts and fewer problems than conventional combines using the cylinder-and-concave design. Its more gentle threshing action means less cracked grain and top price for every bushel!
- Human-Engineered Cab. Provides day-long comfort for increased operator productivity.
- 180 hp Turbocharged Diesel and 3-Speed Hydrostatic Transmission. Plenty of power to handle soft soils and hilly terrain.
- 1015 Pickup Header. Available in 11- and 13-foot widths. Hydraulic variable speed drive lets you match crop pickup to ground speed for smooth delivery with minimum shattering.
- 1010 Rigid and 1020 Flexible Cutterbar. Direct Cut Headers also available in several widths from 15 to 30 feet depending on model.
- 1000 Series Corn Heads in four to eight row sizes.

The 1660 Axial-Flow Combine . . . a generation ahead.

Well, this is it. It's the last page of the book, and this is where the credits go. First credit goes to our photographer, Gene Johnson. Gene took a lot of pictures for the yearbook, and when they came out, they were pretty good. Thanks for losing my picture, Gene! Paula, thanks for typing all that copy. It's a crummy job, but somebody has to do it. Next, thanks to Alma, Diana, and Lars for doing layouts. I always dreaded doing layouts, and thanks to you, I didn't have to do them this year. And thanks to Todd and April for doing all the little odds and ends: all the bookkeeping, phone calls, writing stories and captions. I know those jobs weren't little to you. Thank you, Rachel, for all the trips to Frankfort to "pick up ads." And thank you, Michelle, for all the stories, captions, layouts, and indexing, especially those interviews with the coaches and Mrs. Catt (HA!)

My biggest thanks go to Mrs. Sabens for putting up with all of us and getting this book in on time. It wasn't easy, but you managed, and you did so well, MOM! Good luck to you next year; you'll need it! And last, but certainly not least, A GREAT BIG HUGE THANK YOU TO THE FRITO LAY COMPANY FOR ALL THEIR CRACKERS AND CHIPS! NO ONE CAN EAT JUST ONE, AND WE PROVED IT!

Thanks again to the staff for a job well done. Good luck next year.
